BANGOR DAILY WHIG AND COURIER.

BY SMITH & SAYWARD. WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 8, 1854. VOLUME XX.....NUMBER 189.

Bangor Daily Whig and Courier.

PUBLISHED Over the Kenduskeag Kanal, at Five Dollars a year, payable half yearly in advance. All subscriptions for less than a year to be paid in advance and all orders for Periodicals once must be accompanied by the amount due.

The BANGOR COURIER is published at the office of the Daily Whig and Courier, every Tuesday morning, at One Dollar Fifty Cents a year in advance, or Two Dollars if not paid in advance.

The publishers will not hold themselves responsible for any error that may occur, beyond the amount charged for the advertisement.

Mr. V. B. PALMER is agent for these papers. Advertisements left with him will be immediately forwarded.

McFarland's BURGLAR and FIRE PROOF SAFES!

THE undersigned would respectfully call the attention of the public to the above unequalled safes and to prepare against the devouring element of fire as well as the most artful burglar. To MERCHANTS, JEWELLERS, and BANK DIRECTORS, we would say we guarantee them and the goods, and they can be confirmed of their superiority over all the manufacture.

Our business is done on a plain, straightforward way, without resorting to humbug or large bills.

Below is one of the many testimonials we are daily receiving from all parts of the country, and which speaks for itself. Messrs. Goodall & Hitchcock's Oil Store was situated directly under the Pemberton House and was entirely consumed in that great fire of August 1st.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22, 1853.

Messrs. Wm. McFarland & Co

Gentlemen—It affords us pleasure to inform you that the Fire and Burglar Proof Safe we purchased of you preserved our books and papers, at the disastrous fire of the Pemberton House, last evening, in the most perfect manner. Although it was covered for hours with the fire with burning resin, and other Oils, and directly under a broken gas pipe, in the most intense heat of remaining true to its name and to its merits when taken out were all even scorched, and hardly bore the smell of fire. We cheerfully recommend it to any who may be in want of a perfect safe, and against fire we can fully recommend your manufacture, having had a personal experience of their excellence. Yours, &c.

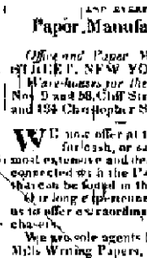
PATENT SELF HEATING

SMOOTHING IRON.



MANY important improvements have been made since the beginning of the present century, relieving and facilitating the labor of many by machinery and other modern inventions, but females have been much neglected until the introduction of the Patent Self Heating Smoothing Iron, which will sell to them in a very great degree, from its excessive and fatiguing labor in Ironing, besides being a great saving of time and expense. This Iron combines economy, convenience, saving of labor, and dispatch; one cent's worth of dry charcoal supplies all for a whole days' constant ironing. Hard wood coal from the stove will answer the same purpose. It can be used in Potters' and Tailors' Irons are constructed upon the same principles and possess equal superiority.

Board of Agriculture.

Among the plans proposed by the Board of Agriculture is to make the study of the elementary principles of agricultural science one of the studies to be pursued in our common schools. Also that a committee of one man to be appointed by the Board of Agriculture and two men to be appointed by the Governor and Council shall be instructed to examine such works on the above mentioned principles of agricultural science as shall be presented to them with reference to their adaptation to the use of our public schools. If said committee shall on examination find a work suited to the purpose a committee of five be appointed by the Board are authorized to adopt immediate and efficient measures, in concurrence with the Superintending School Committees in the several cities, towns, and plantations, to introduce the work into the schools in the state.

A Bill has been prepared by the Board to enable any county or institution in said county in the state, when 20 acres of land shall be attached, where the higher branches of agricultural and horticultural science shall be taught, the annual expenses of such, &c. One township of land is asked for each institution.

The Board also ask the Legislature to cause the Geological Survey to be finished in this state.

☞ We learn that Major James H. Carleton of the United States Army, who has for some time past been stationed in New Mexico in command at one of the United States posts there, has recently returned to Fort Union from an exploring expedition in a portion of the country which had hitherto been known only by tradition. He visited the ruins of three towns or cities which no one now living has any idea by whom they were built, or when. One, called Gran Quivira, built of stone, is fifteen miles from any water and in a country so sandy as to preclude the idea that the people who built it got water from a well. We shall look with much interest for Major Carleton's official report on these discoveries, as we know that he is an accurate observer and that few can equal him in description, as in graphicness of word-painting. We cannot but express the hope that the Major, who has so long been shut up in the wild region of New Mexico, almost like a person out of the world, will, before a great while, find it convenient to obtain leave of absence and visit his numerous friends in this region, bringing his household jewels with him.

☞ We have expressed our opinion on this anti-slavery address delivered in this city on Friday last. We did not undertake to dismiss them or express the results to which we arrived, although it would not have been difficult to give a referred to the several passages in the address to which we excepted, as well as to those that met our approval. Mr. Phillips is an eloquent speaker, a man of culture and of great practice as an orator, but on the subject of slavery he is somewhat one-sided, a little too much so for a rare accuracy and justice in all his statements of facts, or the soundness of his premises or the fullness and directness of his logic. He is a good timber but a little warped, on account of his position, for it is said the best plank will warp a little in the hot summer sun that we did not intend to discuss this matter, length, but merely to refer to it in confirmation of our previously expressed opinion, even as at the opposite opinion of our lady correspondent whose communication we here publish:

To the Editor of the Whig and Courier:

The notice you gave in Saturday's Whig of Mr. Phillips's anti-slavery address hardly does justice, we think, to the general sentiment in regard to that able and interesting performance. Not only did we hear no complaint of "seeming vindictiveness" from a large number whom we heard speak of it; but, on the contrary the warmest praise for its candor and general moderation. In these respects, we think it deserved unqualified approbation, with one single exception. The reference to Dr. Dewey, as a minister of Mr. Phillips, especially since the explanation given by that gentleman is perfectly consistent with a Pagan principles and a very common for the "higher law," which it is understood he was always advocated, even in the immediate presence of Washington. This oft-repeated misquoter, misunderstood sentiment of Dr. Dewey, seems to put to an anti-slavery argument in the mind of any lover of truth and justice.

We suspect that to most of Mr. Phillips' large audience it was delightful music to listen for two hours to an address so candid and his treatment of others—so in tone—able in argument, as well as in appeal—especially as coming from one was well known to stand in the very front of Garrisonian abolitionism.

It is unnecessary to speak of the charm of Mr. Phillips' perfectly simple and self-possessed manner, his name is an eloquent and full speaker is too well established to require praise at our hands.

One verdict, Mr. Editor, would be the verdict of many. We think the address "probably could" not stop the length, with his consciousness, and as to the want of "fullness," the candid hearer could easily supply the few links that were wanting in the address to fill out its harmonious proportions.

Appearance of an Actress; or, eight years on the stage. By Anna Cora Mowatt.

We have lately received this book, since the reception of Uncle Tom have been so occupied by pictured as by these delicious pages. We confidently assert to the lovers of good reading who have not seen this book they have a treat before them.

The incidents in the Authoress' life commencing at this early age of twelve years, are told in a style peculiarly unique—so natural, so free, so full familiarity carried along in line, and as if in the actual presence of a joyful and scamp ished woman, forget the and: rring to the lovely Prototype (the piece of the book) audibly and involuntarily exclaim "Uncle Tom, God bless you, etc. Our limits will not permit further notice of the work. (Vide Putnam's January —) We hope our friends, the booksellers, will have no time in procuring the work for the multitude of our readers at large. The drama is represented in a new and attractive form such even the most skeptical and rigid will not to condemn.

The Christian Herald gives the following capital negro anecdote of which may be called "doggone boiled down."

"My brethren, God's no respecter of persons like the Alabama tribes! In Spring comes and brought in all de wild dogs, sheep and tickle dat had been going to de bush, and carry them down in the summer. Dem dey do water go down—den a log come on de island den de beget cooked on de shore, and chicks go de to that, and dare dey lie, wotherm' and dein' all dogs, mother fleet. Jim' so dat come revival of religion—dat ole sinner bro't in dat ole flesh-ridder bro't back, an' all de folks seem comin', an' mighty good times. But brethren, God bless your souls! by-and-by revival gone—den de ole sinner is almost in his own arm chair, on just such a rock; den one fine Sunday, de Lord got the ax, lit it all along de shore, and dey lie till Sunday revival. Behold, my brethren. God bless your souls! keep in de narrow."

Destructive Fire in Lowell.—At about one o'clock, on Friday night last, a fire broke out on the north side of Merrimack street, in Lowell, and destroyed all the buildings between Nos. 77 and 100 on that side of the street. The houses burnt were low four wooden structures, chiefly occupied for military purposes, or for the lighter kinds of dry goods trade. Among the occupants were A. N. Cook, B. Gordon, and A. M. Moore, dealers in lace goods; M. L. Russell and S. H. Hussey, keepers of millinery establishments; and J. Harris and —Richardson, toy dealers; and a Miss Brown. The buildings destroyed were probably worth $10,000.

K. & P. R. R.—At a meeting of the Directors of this road, Monday, it was decided not to discontinue the evening train from Portland and the noon train from Augusta. It was also voted to purchase two more engines, pass, &c. We are pleased to hear of these decisions, as the public is largely interested in the continuance of those trains, and both the public and the corporation are interested in greater business facilities.—Bath Mirror.

☞ Mary, put that hood and shawl in their places, not throw them on the chair or table.—Every neat little girl will have a place for everything, and learn to put everything in its place. Such a one will make a neat, tidy, orderly woman; but the girl who throws her bonnet or shawl on the table, when she comes from school, will be pretty sure to make a slut when she becomes a woman. A Slut! why, Mary, what a word that is! Who would want to live with a slut, her bonnet on one chair, her shawl on another, the broom lying on the floor, the spider put away unwashed, a dirty cat on the bed, two or three hens in the entry, mouldy bread in the closet, the bed-room unaired, the bed never more than half made; her hair looking like a forsaken mouse-nest, buttons and strings gone from the children's clothes, and little Sammy with the corner of his shirt hanging through a knot-hole in the later end of his pants for other boys to laugh at and crush his spirits. Little girls begin to be slatts when they begin to throw their bonnets and shawls on the tables and chairs instead of placing them in their proper places. But stop, Mary, there is a shoe-string untied and the ends dangling about the floor; that too is a bad sign. Tie it and from the time determine to be a neat little girl, and by and by we shall see Mary called a neat, lovely woman. Girls, just think what a hateful name slut is. Shun it. Be neat, orderly, begin now, and practice will make it pleasant.—Hacker.

The old Folks of Connecticut.

The "Old Folks" of Hartford Connection, stirred with the fond memory of other days, have recently given two concert in that city to give the young folks a specimen of other times. All the tunes sung were those in vogue half a century since and the whole order and arrangement were of the genuine old fogie stamp with the true aroma of age.

Mrs. Sigourney, the charming poet has celebrated the event in the following poem and which we copy, as admirably appropriate to the proceedings of the anti-quarian singers in this city:

"OLE FOLK'S CONCERT."

Back they come—those days of old,—
Back on Memory's wing of gold,
And their, yellowed scenes again
Quicken, at the ancient strain,
Was its tide of ancient song.
Quaintly rolls you tunes along.

Up it springs, that time-worn tune
Masked by many a weather stain,—
Never there had organ's peal
Stirred the listener's pride nor zeal,—
Stove nor furnace never gave
Comfort to its humble nave!
Nor did winter's cold deter,
The warm hearted worshipper.

Pews, like cabinets, small and square,
With unfashioned seats are there,
Over their palisaded height,
Weary eh id, or roguish wight,
Mig ht run in that early day
Light play, or safely play—
For the rything that was nigh,
Swift of hand and sharp of eye.

Fitly ranged in gallery fair,
Precious youths, and maidens rare,
Holding in their hands the key
Of the church's melody.
With their guide in music's art
Promptly rise to take their part.
He, with pitch-pipe in his hand,
Glancing round his well-trained band,
Gives the key tone l ud and true,
Beating time with ardor due.

On his brow with fixed intent,
Every loyal eye is bent,
For his ear, as quick as thought,
Each incipient discord caught;
Scarce the reverend man who stood
Neath his sounding-board of wood,
Or drank in accented state
To that choir might seem so great.

Foremost in the tuneful race,
By their privilege of place,
Breathed the tenor bold and clear—
Bass and treble following near:
While the counter shrill and keen
Filled the intervals between.
True, with perfect movement led,
Words of praise distinctly said,
Six minutes accented strong,
Flowed the surging tide of song.

Ever now, and ever young,
Thus Old Hundred grandly rung;
Or St. Martin with sweet lay,
Bath, and Wimbleton and Wells,—
Mear and Alesbury's songs of love,
With their full indigo move.
Jordan, and St. Helen's flow,
Dulce or lentissimo,—
Denmark with its chorus high,
Hethen's tender harmony,—
And a host of equal claim,
Time would fail me here to name.

Though, perchance, the modern school,
Nurtured 'neath Italian skies,
View with scorn the simple rule
Of those quaint old melodies:
Yet Devotion deep and grave
Kindled at their earnest stave.
Pious ancestors were here,
Turning from their week-day care,
Holy Sabbath joy to share;
Blooming cheeks, and templed grey,
Saintly fathers,—where are they?
Find they not a Better Land?
Swell they not the seraph band?

Pleasant were those times, I trow,
Hail a century ago,—
When one country, newly free,
Sober in her infancy,
Well content with rural cheer,
Had not doffed her homespun gear,—
Did not ask on steam to fly,
With a whistle, and a cry,—
Nor the lightning flash employ
As her tireless errand-boy;
But she had a peaceful smile,
Full of heart and free from guile,
And at hearth-stone taught the while,
Truths her race a healthful throng,—
Love that made republics strong,—
And we bless the sunshine smile
That restores her days again.

FROM CALIFORNIA.

ARRIVAL OF THE

Daniel Webster,

AT NEW ORLEANS.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 7th.

Steamer Daniel Webster, from San Juan arrived at the Balize this morning with California dates of the 15th ult. She brings 139 passengers and $3,000 dollars in specie. The Webster connected with the Sierra Nevada, which brought down $1,000,000 in gold. Her passengers have come through in 20½ days.

California markets were heavy and overstocked, and business was depressed.

Flour, good brands, was quoted at 11 to 12 dollars. Lumber is in limited demand at $60.

Very little gold was coming in. Rain was much wanted.

Arrived at San Francisco, date not given, ships Sky-lark, Flying Arrow, Sweepstakes, Southern Cross, and Wild Pigeon, all from N. York.

FROM HAVANA.

A letter from Havana of Jan. 31st, states that the apprentice system is about to be carried out on the island on an extensive scale.—Numerous vessels are on the way to Cuba with cargoes of negroes, and others were preparing to depart.

A large Spanish naval force was stationed at the island and a British and French force were expected soon. Another letter says that all is considerable tion at Havana. The whole fleet has been in a state of preparation for some expected event. Provisions, water and coal having been put on board the different war vessels and steamers.

Fire and loss of Life at Toledo.

TOLEDO, OHIO, Feb. 7

A fire broke out yesterday in a boarding house in this city, which spread so rapidly that the inmates had no mode of escape, excepting by the windows. Several children were thrown from the windows, and then followed by their parents.

Two men, named Howard and Beatty, and two females, one a Miss Stacy, and the other a child ten years of age, were burned to death. Miss Stacy had escaped from the building, but rushed back to secure a child with whom she had been sleeping, and she did not return—Mr. and Mrs. Murphy and a child four years of age were badly burned.

From Washington.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7th.

At the close of Mr. Wade's speech in the Senate yesterday, the question was put on Mr. Chase's amendment to the Nebraska bill, namely, to strike out the words declaring the Missouri compromise line superseded by the principles of the acts of 1850.

The vote stood as follows, Yeas—Messrs. Allen, Cass, Chase, Everett, Fish, Foot Hamlin, Seward, Smith, Stuart, Sumner, Walker, Wade—13.

Nays—Messrs. Adams, Atchison, Badger, Bayard, Bell, Benjamin, Bright, Brodhead, Butler, Clay, Dawson, Dixon, Dodge of Iowa, Douglas, Evans, Fitzpatrick, Geyer, Houston, Hunter, Jones of Tennessee, Mallory, Mason, Norris, Pratt, Sebastian, Shields, Slidell, Toucey, Thompson of Kentucky, Williams—30.

Mr. Douglas moved to strike out the words "which was superseded by" and insert "which is inconsistent with."

Mr. Cass said he could vote for this amendment. He could not vote for the words declaring the supersedure. It required an act of Congress to effect a supersedure of a law. I will say a proper to say, which is inconsistent with.

Mr. Badger contended that he two phrases equally expressed the same thing.

Mr. Cass said he would much rather say at once that the Missouri compromise is unconstitutional, and would prefer saying so directly in so many words.

Mr. Douglas said that by to-morrow he hoped they would agree upon the proper words to express what they all meant. If no one else desired to speak to-morrow, he would say a few words.

Mr. Stuart said he would vote for the Bill, but he did not believe the Missouri compromise superseded by it, though it was clearly inconsistent with the act of 1850."

Yeas. Cass, Badger and Stuart continued the debate until after four o'clock as to whether these was or not any difference between the two phrases.

XXXIIId CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.

In the Senate this morning petitions were presented from New York, Pennsylvania and New Hampshire against the repeal of the Missouri Compromise, which were severally laid on the table.

Mr. Dixon of Ky. advocated the Nebraska Bill, and spoke in favor of slavery.

Mr. Wade moved that the bill be postponed until May day. Agreed to—yeas 23, nays 17. After an executive session the Senate adj.

Have you itch, defying skill?
Have you sun that stains the hill?
Have you aches, in tooth or ear?
Have you pains that feel so queer?
Have you bruises of any kind?
Have they galls or broken ends?
Have they ring-bone—hard to cure?
Have they big head to endure?
Have they scratches or sand-crack heel,
Have they chains, that bleed at heel?
Have they quarter—worms then all?
Have they? Have you? I don't see all—
Have you tried the Doctor's Oil—
Have you—still you've got enough?
Take advice now kindly sung—

MISSING VESSELS

Sch Susan Hooper, Hibbard, from Haddam Conn, abt Dec 25 h, for an eastern port with stone, has not since been heard from. She probably foundered in the gale of Dec 24th.

Brig J Sinclair, of Bluehill, E G Parker master, at last from Boston for Jacksonville, and was spoken just prior to the gale of Oct 30 near the bar of St Johns River, but has not since been heard from, and there is reason to believe that she was lost, with all on board. She was a good vessel of 198 tons, and insured in Boston for $6000.

Sch N H Wasson is said to have been at Chittenden 13th ult, ready to sail for Eastport, and has not since been heard from. Capt Stevens, of Castine, is said to have been master.

CITY OF BANGOR.

An Ordinance defining and establishing the boundaries of Wards number One, Five, Six and Seven.

SEC. 1. Be it ordained, by the Mayor Aldermen and Common Council of the City of Bangor, in City Council assembled.

That Wards number One, Five Six and Seven, in said city, be and they are hereby bounded and established as hereinafter described to wit

Ward Number One, beginning on the northerly line of the city of Bangor where the Kenduskeag stream crosses the same—thence down said stream to the somber y line of lot number fifty six Holland's; thence easterly on said line to the Kenduskeag stream; thence northerly on said line to the Stillwater Avenue, so called; thence easterly on said Avenue to the Six Mile Falls Road; thence down said road to the junction of Centre street with said road—thence down Centre street through the centre of the same, to Exchange street; thence down Exchange street, through East Market Square, to State street; thence up State street to Broad st, thence up Grove and Somerset streets to Mitford street; thence west on Mitford street to the Rail Road; thence on the Rail Road to the line between Bangor and Orono; thence on said line to Glenburn line, thence on Glenburn line to the place of beginning.

Ward Number Five, beginning at the south-west corner of Granite Block on East Market Square, upon Exchange street to Centre street; thence up Centre street to the Six Miles Falls road; thence up Six Miles Falls Road to Kenduskeag Avenue and down said Avenue to the southerly line of lot number fifty-six, Holland, thence on said line, westerly to the Kenduskeag stream and down said stream to the Kenduskeag Bridge, thence up said bridge to the place of beginning.

Ward Number Six, beginning at the Penobscot River at the point intersected by the line between the City of Bangor and the town of Veazie; thence down said river to a point which would be intersected by a continuation of the centre line of East Somerset street; thence on said line of continuation to and through said East Somerset street to State street; down State street to Grove street; up Grove street, the Bannister street to Mitford street and on Mitford street to the Rail Road; up said Rail Road to the line of Orono; thence on said line, southeasterly, to the point intersected by the line between said city and the town of Veazie, and thence southwesterly and southerly, following said line to the place of beginning.

SEC. 2. Be it ordained, that so much of the ordinance, passed April 22, 1850, establishing and defining the boundaries of the seven Wards in said city as relates to Wards number One Five Six and Seven, be and the same is hereby repealed.

HOT CORN.

Opinions of the Religious press

HENRY WARD BEECHER, in the New York Independent says—"Let I speed my way in numbers for as great as the sages in summer. Man thousands sit down under its shadow in delight, and rise up refreshed and made kind and better men. And may Solon Robinson live to see a hundred books more each one better than the other."

The New Evangelist, a leading Presbyterian paper, says of these stories—"They evince a dramatic skill worthy of Dickens and powerfully appeal in behalf of the poor, vicious and down trodden on grounds which sound Christian morality and feeling cannot but approve of. Any thing more touching than The Little Hot Corn Girl or indeed than most of these transcripts from the terrible realities of life, we have seldom encountered."

From the Methodist Protestant Baltimore Md "No man can read it who has a spark of philanthropy in his bosom without feeling a strong desire to do something for the poor and wretched to cooperate with more compassionate glance upon the outcasts from society, and especially to seek to rescue from the atmosphere of vice these helpless and innocent children, who are born to sin and nourished in iniquity."

From the Religious Herald Hartford Conn—"Agreed and good work will the circulation of this book effect."

BROWN'S

BRONCHIAL TROCHES:

For the alleviation of Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Coughs Colds, and similar Affections of the Throat.

THESE Lozenges are prepared from a highly esteemed receipt for alleviating Bronchial affections, possessing peculiar properties which remove hoarseness and render the voice smooth and clear. Public Speakers Singers, and other persons suffering from Affections of the Throat, Hoarseness Colds of longer or shorter duration, either superficial or of the voice will find these Lozenges effecting one in allaying any irritation of the Bronchial tubes whether produced by Cold Influenza, or any unusual exertion of the Vocal Organs in speaking or singing.

Prepared by JOHN I BROWN & SON Chemists, 425 Washington (opposite Essex) St Boston

Messrs JOHN I BROWN & SON:

Gentlemen—A knowledge of the manner in which your Bronchial Troches" had me, some of four years duty, to adopt their use. The results have been such as to induce me to continue the practice believing them of great benefit in many affections of the Bronchial organs. Yours, etc. J T W LANE M D.

Boston Sept 1st, 1853

Bangor August 16, 1853.

Dear Sir—Your Bronchial Troches seem to me a simple and elegant form for administering the combination of several medicinal substances, held in general esteem among Physicians in the treatment of Bronchial affections.

Very respectfully, GEO F BIGELOW M D.
